

Location of Units in City Park Discussed

The City Commission met Monday night and plans were made for location of the different units in the new City Park. Trees should arrive this week, and will be planted in the park.

Location of the swimming pool was considered, and virtually agreed upon, since this will be the first major improvement. A contract for the swimming pool construction will be let soon.

The bonds in the amount of $60,000 which were approved by the voters were sold to the First National Bank in Canyon. The bonds will draw 2 3/4% interest. They are 20 year bonds with 10 year option.

County Agent John Brazzil has recommended a park grass to be planted at various places in the new park in which fills will be necessary. Native grass will be saved as far as possible and will be watered.

The city hopes to do all of the work on the park with its regular crew aside from construction on the swimming pool.

No Jury Cases Tried in Court

Monday was jury trial cases in district court, but no jury was used.

Attorneys looked over the jury panel and found four women on the jury. They advised their client to enter a plea of guilty, so that was that. The jurors were dismissed.

Judge E. E. Jordan will not return until Thursday when a non-jury case will be tried.

No attorney was in position to say that the presence of women on the jury had anything to do with the plea of guilty. However, witnesses had been called for one defendant, who entered the plea of guilty.

Throws Rope Boy on Cliff

Sheriff L. S. Johnston tossed a rope 75 feet to a man and boy who were clinging to a cliff in the Palo Duro State Park Sunday night. It was the most accurate throw of the year, stated J. H. Buchanan, owner of the scenic railroad, who assisted in the recovery of Hobart Brown and his son, Mickey.

The pair had climbed Capitol Peak and was returning when darkness overtook them, and they found they could go neither up nor down. The father was trapped for three hours, and his son four hours in the chilly night air.

Johnston and members of the Canyon Fire Department, Bill Sternberg, Bob Bellah, and Jack Jennings came to the rescue of Pete Cowart, park manager, in the rescue.

By 9:45 Sunday night the family car of the Browns was on its way to Amarillo, with a scarey tale to tell neighbors about their escape from the canyon.

Stork Specials

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Don Didier at Bakersfield, Calif., January 11th. The mother is the former Gene Kleinschmidt. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kleinschmidt have been with their daughter in California since Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dowd of Happy are the parents of a seven pound daughter, Barbara Jane. Little Miss Dowd was born Saturday, January 15, in an Amarillo hospital. Paternal grandmother is Mrs. J. C. Dowd.

A2/c and Mrs. Max Bellah are the parents of a 6 lb. 10 oz. son, Charles Richard, born Tuesday, January 11, at San Antonio. The paternal grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Bellah, thinks it would be fine to visit in San Antonio soon.

Fultons Attended Floral Meeting Held at Plainview

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Fulton, Jr., attended a week-end meeting of the Telegraph Delivery Unit in Plainview. Mr. Fulton is treasurer of the unit and was in charge of the meeting.

A dinner-dance was given Saturday night, with music furnished by W. T. Collegians, and local talent, including Bob and Pat Vandergriff.

Willard Crain, nationally famous floral design and commentator, gave an informal talk Saturday morning to the association.

The unit presented a check for $100 to the School of Nursing in Amarillo in appreciation for its services. The director and several students were present to receive the gift.

More than 50 florists attended the meeting, according to Mr. Fulton.

Time Running Out For Auto Inspection

AUSTIN, Jan. 15: A lot of Texas car owners are apt to be mighty unhappy three months from today.

That was the opinion expressed last night by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, after a conference with George Busby, chief of the Safety Department's Motor Vehicle Inspection Division.

A review of the motor vehicle inspection figures at the half-way point in the current inspection program showed the two officials that only 1 out of every 5 autos in the State have had their annual safety check as required by law.

"That means," Garrison said, "that a lot of Texas car owners are apt to be mighty unhappy three months from today because they won't be allowed to operate on the streets and highways without the proper approved inspection sticker."

The Public Safety Director also pointed out that the longer motorists delay, the longer will be the waiting line at the inspection stations as the April 15th deadline approaches.

A single note of encouragement was offered by Chief Busby who said that the State's nearly 4,000 inspection stations would be able to handle the inspection of some 2 1/2 million vehicles which have not yet been checked without prolonged waiting in line provided the owners begin taking their cars in without further delay.

Failure to secure the inspection by April 15th will subject motorists to a probable fine if they continue to operate their cars after that date.

Bufs Won and Lost in Arizona

The Buffalo basketball team won Friday night from Tempe, 82-70; but lost Saturday night at Tucson from the University of Arizona, 73-72.

The Bufs lead 72-71 with one minute to play. The ball was stalled until 12 seconds before the game ended, when a basket was attempted, but failed. Arizona raced the ball across the court, laying out a basket with two seconds to play, winning the game 73-72. There was not enough time left for the Bufs to take the ball across the court and score another basket.

The Bufs will meet the Hardin-Simmons team in Canyon Saturday night.

Texas Tech will play here on Friday night of next week.

Both of these games are considered the hardest test which the Bufs will have this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan F. Sanders returned Friday from Nogodoches where they were called by the illness and death of Mrs. Sanders father. The funeral was held Tuesday.

Mrs. Hal Bishop of Medford, Oregon, has been the guest of Mrs. T. V. Reeves for the past week.

Two Operas Will Be Given at West Texas State in March

Main roles in the two one-act operas to be produced in March at West Texas State College by the WT Opera Workshop, have been assigned and rehearsals have begun. The short productions, "Sunday Excursion" and "Gianni Schicchi," will be presented March 31 and April 1.

A contemporary work by Alec Wilder, "Sunday Excursion" uses five characters in a story of two couples who meet on an excursion train. The couples, all college students of 1915, are returning from an enjoyable Sunday outing, and the opera deals with the situation of how the "stags" become "dates."

In the two men's roles are Walter Brown, Lorenzo freshman, and Allen Greer, Phillips sophomore. The girls are Pat Lewis, Borger sophomore, and Lotus Root, Hereford freshman. The part of Tim, the train candy butcher, has not been assigned.

Lead role for "Johnny Skeekee," will be played by John Butler, senior from Vega, and the role of his daughter, Lauretta, will be portrayed by Peggy Bain, Plainview senior. Both Butler and Mrs. Bain have held lead roles in the three previous operas produced at West Texas State.

Playing the parts of relatives are Kathleen Huber, Amarillo; Keith Gaede, Muleshoe; Fawayne Murphy, Dimmitt; Paul Caillet, Dallas; Don Bauer, Tulsa; Joanne Hill, Wayside; and Betty Anne Dean, Amarillo.

Six other roles in "Gianni Schicchi" are yet to be assigned by Royal Brantley, director of the WT Opera Workshop. The WT orchestra, directed by Bill Latson, will provide the music, and art students will make the sets.

Snow Falls Here Saturday p. m.

Snow fell in Canyon Saturday afternoon for about one hour, covering the ground about an inch. Due to the warm weather which prevailed, the snow quickly melted, and there was practically none left on the ground Sunday.

The moisture from this snow measured only .06 of an inch.

West Texas State Recommended Money Increase

Governor Allan Shivers recommended an increase of 15% in the appropriations for West Texas State in the budget presented to the legislature Thursday.

The administration requested $986,000 for each of the two years starting September 1st.

The Governor recommended that the college receive $867,476 for the first year and $807,091 for the second year. The college had received $766,588 for the past two years.

The recommendations of the Governor will be used as a basis for consideration of the Senate Finance Committee and the House Appropriations Committee.

The increases allowed by the Governor included salary increases, repairs, landscaping, a steam tunnel, sidewalks, street paving, curbs and gutter.

P-TA To Meet Thursday Night

Ray Wells will direct the program for the regular meeting of the Canyon Parent-Teacher Association tomorrow night at the high school cafeteria at 7:45.

Practical Everyday Uses of Mathematics, demonstrated by the high school math department, will give information that will surely be of interest to all.

Special music for the meeting has been arranged by Mrs. Glenn Dowlen. The invocation will be given by Rev. A. J. Pettit.

Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to be present.

Mother of Mrs. Tolliver Dies Tuesday

Mrs. James Carrell of Minco, Okla., mother of Mrs. Crannell Tolliver, died at her home in Oklahoma Tuesday night. Mrs. Carrell, who was 88 years old, had been in poor health for some time.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed at this time.

Eagles Win From Shamrock

Canyon High School boys defeated Shamrock High School at Shamrock Tuesday night in basketball with a score of 72 to 27.

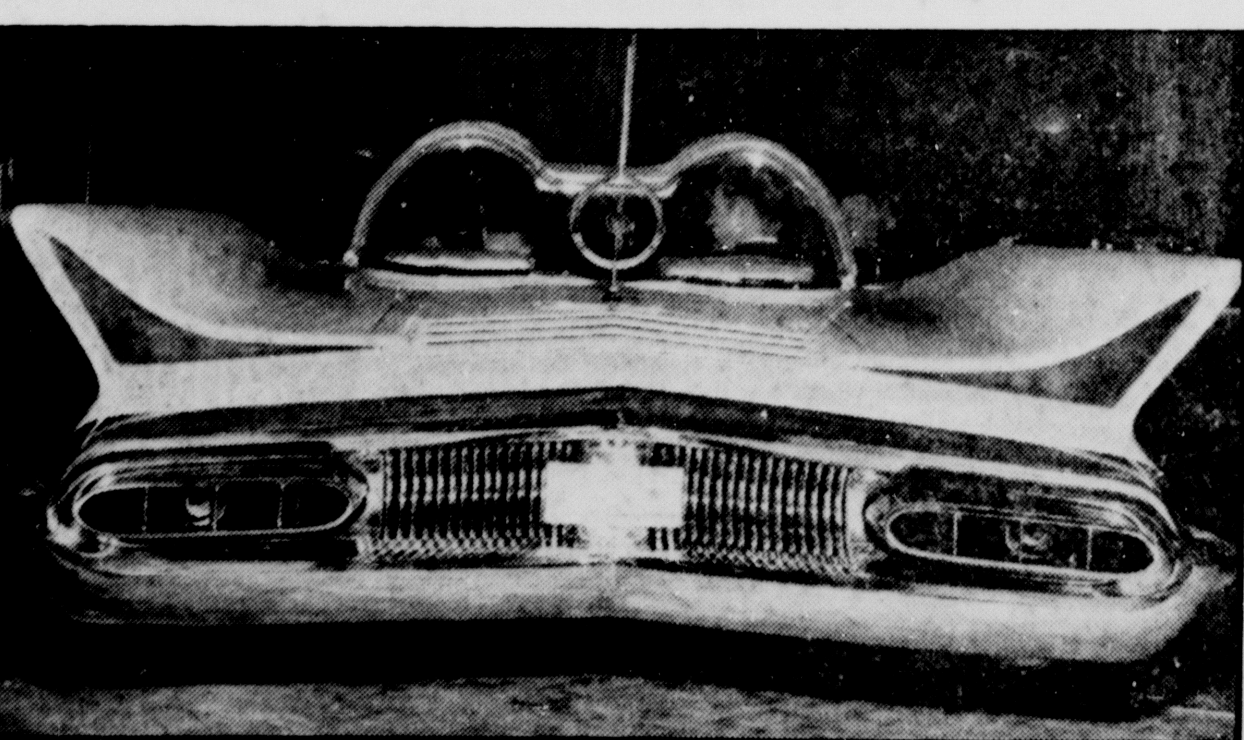

George Snapp with 18 points was high point man on the Eagle team. Friday night the Eagles meet the Dumas team here.

Out-of-town relatives and friends attending the funeral of Mrs. Burnett Sunday included Mr. and Mrs. Mitt Bullard, Mr. and Mrs. Bradford Bullard and Betty and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Scarborough and two children from Lubbock. Mrs. Mary Hutton, Mrs. Arthur Barton and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Barker of Lockney, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Campbell of Clovis, N. M., Mrs. M. S. Alley, Mrs. Serj Girard and Dee Lewis of Martinez, Calif., and William Alley of Delano, Calif.

Mrs. Jessie Thomas of Bentonville, Mrs. Terry Mayben and sons of Denver, Colo., are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Shero, Elwood Shero, and Mr. and Mrs. Archie Dean Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Conner of Gould, Okla., and Mrs. Faye Kinmore of Dimmitt spent Sunday in the T. W. Henderson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holland of Portales, N. M., visited Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. R. D. Lowry.

Men Draw Terms in Pen Monday

Two men plead guilty to criminal charges and were sentenced to terms in the penitentiary for burglary in South Amarillo.

Marshall Poindexter of Kansas City drew a 2 year sentence.

George Simms of Los Angeles likewise drew a two years sentence.

Billy Looper of Amarillo drew a 5 year suspended sentence for his part of breaking into the locker of the slaughter house just south of Canyon recently. Tommy Looper and Willie Stevens from Oklahoma had previously been tried and convicted on the same charge.

Light Fire Record Reported in City During Past Year

Canyon is now well into its seventh month without a fire loss in the city limits.

Jack Jennings, secretary of the Canyon Volunteer Fire Department, said the city had only one major fire loss during all of 1954. Don's Cafe on Highway 87 at the intersection with State Highway 117 was destroyed in an early-morning fire last spring.

"So far as I know, 1954 was the best year in the history of Canyon, so far as fire loss went," Jennings said. "I think that would be true, but I don't have records extensive enough to say more than what I think it was the best year."

During December, only one fire alarm was turned in, and only 13 calls were answered from June 1 to Dec. 1. None of these resulted in loss.

Survey Starts on Expressway

Surveys are being made by the State Highway Department on the right-of-way to be followed between Canyon and Amarillo for the expressway. The voters of Randall county approved a bond issue of $900,000 to buy the right-of-way last week.

A special meeting of the Commissioners Court was held Tuesday afternoon when the Commissioners voted that the expressway follow the present highway. So far as actual recommendations are concerned, the Court must await the survey as to location of the highway. On 36th Street in South Amarillo four different surveys have been made.

It is not likely that so many surveys will be necessary for the balance of the highway, yet no one knows just where the lanes will be run until the surveyors and engineers get through with their work. This will take about eight months, or near the end of 1955.

Mrs. Mary Burnett Died Thursday in Delano, California

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Alice Burnett were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Strauss Atkinson.

Mrs. Burnett died Thursday at 4:50 p. m. at Delano, Calif., where she has been for three months. She was 75 years and 19 days of age.

Mrs. Burnett was the widow of the late Rev. J. M. Burnett, who was pastor of the Baptist Church several years ago.

She is survived by two brothers, G. C. Cole of Canyon and J. R. Cole of Lubbock; and one sister, Mrs. M. S. Alley of Canyon; several nephews and nieces.

Pall bearers were: L. W. Cole, James Cole, Roy Campbell, William Alley, Mitt Bullard, Bradford Bullard.

The body was laid to rest by the side of her husband in Dreamland Cemetery.

Mrs. Harvey Cash is in San Antonio where she will spend three months with her daughter, Mrs. O. J. Laas, and two daughters who live there.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holland of Portales, N. M., visited Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. R. D. Lowry.

Club's Surprise Breakfast Aid to March of Dimes

Approximately $14 was raised for the March of Dimes Friday morning by the Canyon Home Demonstration Club. The money was raised by a "Come As You Are" breakfast in the home of Mrs. Milton Myers.

Those attending were asked to bring an orange. Upon arrival they found that they had to pick the seeds from the orange and pay two cents each for the seeds fine into the March of Dimes fund.

Additional funds were raised by charging a ten cent fine for each change of clothing. There was also a 25 cent admission charge for the party.

Bingo was played for recreation and also as a means of increasing the amount of money for the March of Dimes. The charge was five cents a game and Sue Brown and Irene Haynes were given the job of collecting the money for the March of Dimes.

Those present for the party were Mesdames Durwood Brown, Harold Byars, J. A. Edwards, E. L. Hardaway, Glenn Haynes, W. M. Higdon, C. J. Hughes, L. D. Hunnicutt, Douglas Louder, Luke Miller, Milton Myers, W. O. Nunley, J. R. Parker, Crawford Ruthart, and D. R. Weaver.

There were two visitors, Mrs. George Roden and Mrs. Johnnie McBroom.

Directors of First National Bank Meet

Directors of the First National Bank who were elected last Tuesday met Thursday and elected officers for the coming year.

All officers were re-elected as follows:

L. W. Cole, president.

Clyde W. Warwick, vice president.

Don E. Standley, executive vice president.

James L. Cole, cashier.

Bob Black, director, together with the four directors of the bank.

The stockholders in Tuesday's meeting changed the meeting time for the directors to the second Thursday of each month.

March of Dimes Totals $1200

The March of Dimes campaign brought in $1206.33, according to the count Monday morning by Joe Gibson, county chairman, reported.

Half of this money collected stays in Randall county and half of it goes to the National Foundation to fight polio.

There will be several contributions to be received as many workers who were making collections last week have not reported.

Mr. Gibson extended his personal appreciation to Thompson's for the use of their office and telephone; to the Rotary Club and Lions Club; to the Fire Department; to Sheriff L. S. Johnston and his deputies for their work in collecting the money.

Don Standley is treasurer of the March of Dimes, and Mr. Gibson asks all who have contributions to see Mr. Standley at the First National Bank as soon as possible.

Daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Upchurch With Grandparents

Dr. Louis Upchurch was here from Saturday until Monday from his office in Washington, D. C., where he is head of projects underway in land grant colleges in 25 Northern States. Dr. Upchurch brought his daughters, Betty and Nancy, who will stay in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Upchurch, during the remainder of the school year.

Mrs. Louis Upchurch is with her father in Portland, Oregon, who is suffering from an advanced cancer malady.

Dr. Upchurch is making a tour of inspection of colleges in the west.

Two Local Men Work on Health

Mayor Hosea Foster and Clyde W. Warwick will meet Friday in Amarillo with a Citizen's Health Council, composed of Potter and Randall Counties. R. Earl O'Keefe, who lives in South Amarillo in Randall county, is chairman of this committee which is composed of 14 men.

"We know nothing of the objects of this Council, but will find out about its aims and objects," stated the two local men Monday. The Council will meet in the new YMCA building.

WE WILL BE CLOSED Friday and Saturday in order to see the new Frigidaire appliances in Ft. Worth. Anderson Appliance Co.

Voters Turned Out For the Bond Election Held on Last Tuesday

Congratulations to the voters of Randall county are in order.

The total vote in the bond issue election last Tuesday was 3175, or 563 more than the vote cast in December.

While the vote lacked 601 as many as were cast last May on the same issue, it was 563 more than the December vote.

No one can seek objections, with a majority of 70% for a bond issue to buy the right-of-way. The election required that the bonds be passed by a majority of 65%.

Those who favored the bonds were convinced that they were doing the right thing; while those who opposed the bonds were equally convinced that their way was right. Only time will tell, and then, it will probably be many, many years before either side may say definitely which side was right.

The highway will not be completed in a day or so. We have waited for many years to secure the widening of the underpass on highway 87, and will have to wait for engineering and construction many months before the new expressway will be a reality.

We cannot forget the advice of Mayor Rector Lester of San Antonio, former County Judge of Randall County, when he advised last year: "Buy the right-of-way NOW and at any cost. It will cost the taxpayers more money in a few years. You have great need for this expressway."

The voters took his advice!

Canyon Boys Making Good at Home and in Other Cities

There is always something thrilling about the success of Canyon boys in other fields.

Here we have J. D. Gamble's appointment as a Corporation Judge by the city council of Dallas; and R. L. Lester's elevation to the Mayor's post in San Antonio; and Harvey Cash given more territory and more responsibility with the Texas Company; and a host of other boys and girls who have made good.

Yes, and what about the Canyon boys and girls who stayed at home and entered business or professional fields here in Canyon? We have often heard it remarked that no boy can make good in the community where he was reared! This is not true, by a long shot. We have plenty of examples right here in Canyon of boys and girls who grew up in this community and are doing a most notable job in local business and professional groups. It would be impossible to name all of them; but you can look around and see for yourself.

Before you leave Canyon, look around and see what kind of a job you want, or need!

Former President of a Great University in Slap at Colleges

Robert Hutchins, former president of Chicago University, became head of that great university when only 30 years of age. The first thing he did was to abolish intercollegiate athletics, especially football, which was costing the university too much.

Later he took a slap at colleges and universities in general in these biting words:

"They are high class flop houses where parents send their children to keep them off the labor market and get them out of their hair."

Maybe some colleges and some universities are run under such a plan, but we doubt it. Bob Hutchins has a lot to learn about life. He was divorced at 40, indicating that he was unable to get along with one woman.

Legislature Has a Job Ahead To Find More Money in Texas

Governor Shivers laid it on the line for the lawmakers. He demanded more money for a number of items. The Comptroller painted a gloom picture for the lawmakers. Texas would be in the red if the legislature did not give him more money.

In the meanwhile, experienced lawmakers have indicated that they will fight additional taxes. They have heard the tale of woe so often that it no longer frightens them.

We are glad that we do not have the responsibility of passing upon legislation which would increase taxes. A dozen highly explosive subjects are before the legislature, including the land fraud charges which have developed in the recent weeks.

Russia has abolished God, but so far God has been more tolerant toward Russia.

Better Times Are Ahead For the People of America Is Forecast

"Times Ahead To Be Best Ever."

That is the title of a highly optimistic article. The general substance of it is found in the opening paragraph: "The American people's standard of living keeps rising. Over the years, in spite of high prices and high taxes, the average family has been able to afford more and more luxuries, better food, more vacations, a better house. That trend of the past is to continue in years ahead. . . . In 1955, the standard of living—measured by 'real' income—will hit another all-time high." "Real" income is predicated upon the amount of goods and services one's earnings will buy, after taxes.

There are obvious hazards in any economic forecast, as many an expert has learned to his sorrow. But the story is certainly an impressive one.

In a single decade, for instance, living standards have gone up 25 per cent. Many people once feared that our population would grow faster than our economy, which, of course, would have meant a drop in per capita income and a resultant decline in living standards. But the opposite happened instead. We have a greater number of non-earners than ever, which means that the earners must support more people. Still, the rise in "real" income has more than offset that, and by a substantial and growing margin.

In 1947, per capita spending for personal consumption (based on constant 1954 dollars) was $1,339. In 1950 it was $1,402. Last year it was an estimated $1,434.

The most obvious measurement of living standards is found in our material possessions. And here, despite wars and inflation and everything else, we have been going ahead at a great rate. Where 79 per cent of the homes had electricity in 1940, practically all have it now. Only 40 per cent of the homes had mechanical refrigeration in 1940—now the figure is 90 per cent. Seventy per cent of our families today have cars, as against 50 per cent in 1940. In the same period, the percentage with telephones has almost doubled. So it goes, down an almost endless list.

Home ownership is another big barometer to economists. Last year some 59.3 per cent of the families owned their homes, while only 43.6 per cent did in 1940.

There have been big improvements in the average family diet too. Red-meat consumption—officially estimated at 146.8 pounds per capita last year as compared with 134 pounds in 1940. Milk consumption is also up, and sales of poultry products have been running at record volume.

Fewer new clothes are being bought. But, they are of better quality. The chemically-produced fabrics, such as rayon and nylon, are being bought at twice the 1940 rate.

People are enjoying more recreation and better medical care too. "The trend toward improved living standards, in fact, appears nearly everywhere, despite the big increase in the non-working population and the larger size of young American families."

Predicted Great Improvement In the Travel of the Nation

The time will come when people will travel in stages moved by steam engines—from one city to another—almost as fast as birds fly, 15 or 20 miles an hour. . . . A carriage will set off from Washington in the morning, the passengers will breakfast in Baltimore, dine in Philadelphia, and sup in New York the same day. To accomplish this, two sets of railroads . . . made of wood or iron . . . will be laid . . .

An article on railroads in the World Book Encyclopedia reprints that prophecy, which was made in 1812 by Oliver Evans of Philadelphia. And it was an astonishing look into the future indeed. For at that time a trip from Washington, D. C. to New York City took six to eight days. The first steam railroad was yet to be created.

The encyclopedia observes, "Before the coming of the steam railroad, people living outside cities drove their horse-teams or ox-teams many miles to have a few bushels of wheat ground into flour or to exchange the products of their toil for tea, salt, thread, calico, nails, tools, glass, gunpowder, and other necessities. . . . Railroads worked an almost magical change in the ways people lived. They brought about the growth of towns, cities, and farms in wild prairies, in forests, and even in deserts. Railroads linked together for the first time great numbers of producers—farmers, factory owners, and miners—with great numbers of consumers—the people who eat, wear, and use the products of farm, factory, and mine."

The railroads, in other words, were an essential force in building our nation. Today they are essential to its well-being, strength, and security.

We Were Not Too Hard on the Former Land Commissioner

We re-read our editorial of last week about Bascom Giles, and were somewhat fearful that we had been unjust to him for quitting under fire. There is one thing sure and certain: We do not wish to be unjust to anyone in this column.

However, we have read newspapers from Austin, and the editorials are much stronger against Giles than we care to print.

It is charged down Austin way that Giles knew what was going on, and did not raise a finger against it. No one charges the Governor with entering into the scheme of the promoters, since he was more or less an innocent bystander. He had attended few of the meetings of the land purchase board, and was not acquainted with what was going on. Since this was his job, perhaps the Governor is partially responsible, and not wholly free from blame.

At least the legislature is continuing the investigating committee which uncovered the fraud, and no doubt will get to the bottom of the lead.

In the meanwhile, Bascom Giles had better tell all that he knows.

As far as we can see, 1955 looks about the same as any other year.

The worker who always has a clean desk arouses our suspicions.

A CONSIDERABLE DEBTOR

"That man with the bill is here again, sir."

"Tell him—ah—tell him I've gone to the funeral of a rich relative from whom I expect to receive a lot of money. The poor devil has been here so many times I feel I ought to say something encouraging."

KNOWS HIS JANE

Commander — "Now, suppose you are on your post on a dark night. Suddenly a person appears from behind and wraps two strong arms around you so that you can't use your rifle. What will you call then?"

Cadet — "Let go, honey."

SILVER LINING

Wife (at desk) — "I've been asked for a reference for our last maid. I've said she's lazy, unpunctual and impertinent. Now, can I add anything in her favor?"

Husband — "You might say that she's got a good appetite and sleeps well."

COMPROMISE

A girl dismissed her sweetheart with the settlement that she could not think of marrying him until he had a few thousand dollars.

A few months later she met him and asked him how much he had saved up.

"Thirty-five dollars," was the reply.

"Well," she said with a blush. "I guess that's near enough."

LEE FOSTER

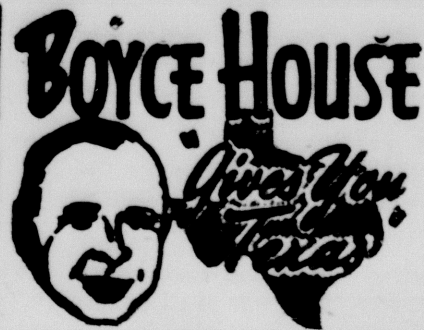

Tax Assessor and Collector,
Canyon Independent School District

The income tax division of our government should be mighty glad the taxpayers have what it takes.

It may be true that poverty is no disgrace, but never has it been used as a testimonial of ability.

Too many dollars in the wrong man's pocket soon crowds out the sense in his head.

Everyone's days may be numbered—but some people live as if they were endless.

Pirates burying their gold and jewels on a lonely beach; robbers, closely pressed by the law, hiding the loot of bank robberies and train holdups in caves; old prospectors, hitting a gold or silver bonanza in the mountains or the desert but never revealing the location and carrying their secret with them to their graves—these are subjects that thrill us all.

Here's a story about buried treasure that is a little different. For a long time a man living in Gorman hunted for a fortune in silver—$6,000,000, he said it was—that the Spaniards had buried. He had an old map but, how he obtained it, he never told, and he would let no one see it. He couldn't hunt much of the time because he had to make a living and years went by and still he hadn't found the treasure. He grew too old to do the digging himself but, when he could scrape together a little money, he hired a digger.

Most of the townspeople knew the elderly man and liked him, but they took no stock in the tale of eight jackloads of silver, or maybe it was ten. A few folks even scoffed; and the one who derived the most fun in ridiculing the story to his cronies was the owner of a store.

That was the way matters stood when, one Saturday, the roving reporter for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram visited Gorman. Someone told the story and introduced the old fortune seeker. His eyes burned as he said, "All I need is a little more money; I'm right on top of it—not many more feet to go."

The newspaperman wrote the story of the supposed treasure and the long search, and after it came out in the paper, many people wrote to Gorman for particulars; some even called friends by long distance; and there was a brisk demand at the hardware store for picks and shovels.

And the "doubting Thomas"—the shop owner—called his buddies together after he had seen the treasure story in cold print and they got up a pool of $600 to go out and hunt for the buried silver they had always laughed about!

They never did find it, by the way. I loathe, abhor, detest, despise, Abominate dried apple pies. I like good bread, I like good meat, Or anything that's fit to eat; But of all poor grub beneath the skies, The poorest is dried apple pies. Give me toothache or sore eyes, But don't give me dried apple pies.

CONSIDER THE SOURCE

A friend from Texas was visiting us for the first time. One rainy day when parking spaces were at a premium, he rode up and down the main street of our little town. Just as he found a space and pulled up ready to back in, a young smart aleck gleefully pulled in, head first. He sat there laughing, and when the Texan finally parked and came strolling up the street, couldn't resist gloating over his victory. "Whatza matter? 'Fraid you'd get your car banged up or something?" Boy, I sure pulled a fast one on you!" He slapped his knee and roared with laughter.

The Texan pushed his hat back and looked at the other carefully. Then he drawled, "Wal, you see, where I come from, we learn awful fast that if we don't want to get splashed with mud, we always get out of the way of a hawg." And he strolled on.

HEARTY LAUGH

An old couple were listening to a broadcast service, the husband sitting back smoking his pipe, his wife in deep concentration. Half an hour passed in silence. Then, suddenly, the old man laughed.

"Sandy," exclaimed his wife, "why this merriment on the Sabbath?"

"Ah," said Sandy, "the parson's just announced the collection and here I am safe at home."

CERTAIN!

A worried lady in Albany entered a notion store and bought two packages of invisible hairpins. "Are you absolutely certain these are invisible?" she asked.

"Lady, I'll tell you how invisible they are," the clerk assured her. "I've sold $4 worth this morning, and we've been out of them for three weeks."

BOOSTS DAIRY PRODUCTS

At a recent stag luncheon at the White House, to which officers of eight service clubs were invited, President Eisenhower gave consumption of dairy products an official boost. The menu included: Oyster soup (milk base); rockfish (baked in milk); scalloped potatoes (made with milk); Chinese cabbage (baked in milk); with butter sauce; tossed salad with French dressing; apple pie with cheese (made from milk)—and a large glass of milk.

THIEVES BYPASS ALARM

Chicago — Burglars deftly sledgehammered their way into the storage room of the Bonwit Teller store here, without disturbing the alarm system, made off with 40 mink, sable and Persian lamb garments, valued at $75,000.

COTTON

The Agriculture Department has announced another increase of 2.7 per cent in the final estimate of this year's Government-restricted cotton crop, putting production at 13,500,000 bales of 500 pounds each. This raised the production above the 12,000,000-bale goal of a Federal control program restricting plantings. Controls were imposed in an effort to cut down on a surplus supply.

Economy begins at home when it should begin at the club.

A Tribute To Our Firemen!

When fire breaks out at four o'clock in the morning, your alert hook-and-ladder guardians are instantly on the job. Heroically, and oftentimes tragically, these brave men in helmets think only of YOU, your family, and the protection of your property. The Fireman is an integral part of our City Government. He must be always physically fit. He must respond without hesitation at the clang of the bell. Night and day, summer and winter, he must be on call to fight the flames and scale the towering ladder. He is a man of ACTION, upon whom all of us depend. We salute his bravery and commend his faithfulness!

THE AMERICAN WAY

It's Not Only The Water Level That Gets Raised!

Extra Month Given For Income Tax

Beginning with January 1st of this year, we enter another income tax filing season.

There have been many changes made in the 1954 law that are a distinct benefit to the individual taxpayers. You will not be in a position to obtain many of the benefits you may be entitled to unless you make a careful study of the booklet which was mailed to you with your blank income tax form. You will find it both interesting and profitable to study these instructions. Most taxpayers will be able to answer all of their tax questions from the information contained in this booklet.

Your Internal Revenue Service is making every effort possible to place complete information in your hands in order that you may file your 1954 return promptly and accurately.

Under the old law you were required to file your return by March 15, unless you filed on a fiscal year basis. Under the new law, you now have until April 15 to file. Don't wait that additional month to get your returns filed. Why forget that tax headache until April 1 or just before the deadline? Usually when a job of this kind is put off until the last minute, it is much harder and more likely to be inaccurate. Errors will inevitably creep in when you leave yourself only a short time in which to prepare your return and cause more headaches in straightening them out later.

Another good and important reason for not postponing the filing of your return is that if you are due a refund, the earlier you file the earlier you will receive your check. 650,000 taxpayers in the Dallas District received tax refunds last year. Because of the many beneficial changes in the new law, it is expected that even a greater number will receive refunds this year. The returns are processed in the order in which they are received.

The metal strips used to band birds are inscribed: "Notify Fish and Wildlife Service, Wash. D.C.," and they used to read "Washington Biological Survey," abbreviated to "Wash. Bio. Surv." This was changed after a farmer shot a crow and disgustedly wrote to the U. S. Government, "Dear Sirs: I shot one of your pet crows the other day and followed instructions attached to it. I washed it and bled it and served it. It was terrible. You should stop trying to fool the people with things like this."

'UNTO A GOOD LAND' REVIEW GIVEN AT WOMAN'S BOOK CLUB

Thirty members of the Woman's Book Club and two guests from Holland heard Mrs. K. E. Frieze review "Unto a Good Land" last Wednesday. The book is based upon the experiences of a group of Scandinavian people who came to Minnesota in the days when that state was still a territory.

The author, Wilhelm Moberg, was introduced to the hearers by Mrs. S. H. Condon, who mentioned that he always wrote in his native language.

In the business meeting of the club, Mrs. Joe Gibson was elected to represent the club on the Library Board.

Officers for the coming biennium were also elected: Mrs. L. A. Donnell, president; Mrs. K. E. Frieze, vice-president; Mrs. R. A. Bellah, secretary; Miss Elva Fronabarger, parliamentarian; and Miss Irene Angel, critic.

Washington Bubbles Over With Official and Unofficial Rumors

WASHINGTON: Business officials continue to brighten their forecasts for the year 1955, and there is generally an upsurge of optimism in the business world today, even surpassing that of November and December. The most accepted version of prospects is that they are good for a period lasting well into 1956.

Although every earlier estimate for 1955 cautioned the public that this year would not be a boom year, or even a spectacular one, forecasts currently being made agree that sales records should set an all-time high and that profits also be at a high.

Construction is expected to continue at a fast clip while consumer buying expands. By raises coming for the military services, for government civil service workers and for postal workers will all have an effect on buying power.

In addition, labor is expected to win pay raises in a number of fields.

With unemployment not expected to rise above 1954 levels, and with inventories in many fields lower than last year this time, the expectation is for a larger volume of manufacturers' orders. So far this year this has been true in the automotive trade.

This rosy business picture is one reason the stock market has steadily advanced in recent months. The advance has continued until it surprised even seasoned experts. It has advanced until some stocks are costing quite a lot in proportion to the dividends they pay.

Yet the market continues to rise. As long as business is good, and it will probably be good for a couple of years or 18 months, at least, these stocks may stay up at the high levels, but sooner or later some of them will probably settle down to more normal prices.

If the readjustment comes suddenly, there could be a rapid level-off in market prices and much profit-taking. In all the bright business forecasts, this one word of caution seems to be lacking. Just because business appears headed for a good cycle that does not always mean it is the time to buy stocks.

The present, a time when stocks have been rising for years, and when buying has forced some issues to surprising levels, could or could not be a good time to invest in stocks, despite the prospect of a very good business year and the improbability of any serious depression.

The worst-kept secret in Washington at about this time is usually some executive committee testimony, with Capitol Hill cranking up again. But the worst-kept secret right now is the little budget-balancing drama that is surging back and forth between several high Administration officials.

The idea of at least one key man was to paint a black picture to the 84th Congress in the field of balanced budgets. Then, after the Democrats had raised a sizable crop of cane, the Administration would up and produce a balanced budget.

And the year would be — of course — AD 1956 — the year, by chance, of the presidential election. That would put the voters in the right frame of mind for voting the right way, according to this theory, which is getting a pretty good play in Washington circles at present.

The only trouble with this plan is the mere existence of a Democratic Congress. The Democrats might just spend enough money in the next two years to keep the budget unbalanced. Of course, President Eisenhower could use his veto, but on many bills he would think twice before sending them back, for he could get something worse and he could also receive credit for killing them — if they did not return to the White House.

While the French are more eager than ever to arrange a Big Four meeting in Paris, the British and American government have grown rather cool to the idea in the last six weeks.

Premier Mendes-France would like to have the Big Four meeting in Paris in May. But Mr. Eisenhower has his doubts whether the French are really a big fourth, and also whether they can deal realistically with the Reds. The British are likewise concerned about the possibility that the French will favor a deal with Russia.

The question is asked what the Allies have to gain from the Reds, now that West Germany is apparently headed for rearmament.

SUSPICION PAYS OFF

Scottsbluff, Neb. — When a young man insisted on taking a suitcase into a local theater, the theater owner, Owen W. Anderson, became suspicious, tipped off the police, who arrested the man, Joe Derl Gore, 20. The suitcase contained $58,142 taken by Gore earlier in a holdup at the First State Bank at Scottsbluff. Anderson received the $1,000 reward offered for the holdup man's capture.

BI-PARTISAN CONFERENCES

President Eisenhower has agreed to consult with Congressional leaders, Democrats as well as Republicans, in advance of all major recommendations on defense and foreign policy. The arrangement, however, does not bind the President or the leaders to "go along" where consultations produce disagreements in the incoming Democratic-controlled Eighty-Fourth Congress.

HE'LL DO

He was asking for the hand of the wealthy man's daughter and certainly displayed assurance and confidence.

"You want to marry my girl, Doris?" said the surprised parent. "Why, man, you were caddying for me only a year or so back."

"Oh, there's not much in that," said the applicant. "I don't see why a poor golfer shouldn't make a decent sort of a father-in-law."

FEDERAL RESERVE

The Federal Reserve System has taken steps to make its "easy money" policy a little less easy. Informed sources say the Federal Reserve, cautious about inflationary pressures, would reduce its purchases of Government securities, thereby restricting credit.

FLYING SAUCERS

President Eisenhower recently told a press conference that he had been assured by Air Force officials that flying saucers were not descending on the earth from outer space. This left the inference that the saucers were terrestrial, but he was not asked where they did originate.

Prejudice has always been the greatest obstacle to progress.

A good reputation always proves to be good business capital.

To err is human—not to air your neighbors errors is divine.

MANPOWER RESERVE

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson has proposed a national reserve plan under which 100,000 young men would receive six months of military training annually. Those so trained would then revert to a reserve status for nine and a half years. This program would be added to the present military system.

SURPRISED THIEVES

Coral Hills, Md. — Surprised store employees, reporting back to the store to put up Christmas decorations, surprised safecrackers at their work. Police, called to the store, said the side of the safe and the tip of an acetylene torch were too hot to handle when the employees walked in, but none saw the escaping thieves. An estimated $2,200 in the safe was untouched.

BUILDING

Building construction set a new record for November with expenditures of $3,283,000,000. The November total was 6 per cent under the $3,477,000,000 for the previous month but it was 8 per cent above the $3,024,000,000 record in November of 1953. Residential, commercial, religious and educational building activities all set new records for the first 11 months of this year.

Consumer Demand Continues Growth in 1954

A review of the 1954 trends in the six major business activities reveals wide differences in the direction and amount of change. Consumer expenditures and construction were moving sharply upward. The rate of inventory accumulation by business, and government expenditures for national security — showed a pronounced downward movement. The two remaining components — business expenditures for new productive equipment and government expenditures other than for national security — declined slightly.

Thus 1954 has been an adjustment period; government reduced its defense outlays and business decided to reduce its inventories. But two of the most basic elements in the economy — consumer demand and construction — continued their long term growth during the year. The widely-heralded "recession" of 1954 has not prevented a substantial rise in the volume of goods and services flowing to the nation's consumers.

Washington Thinks That Russians Are Seeking Power After Stalin

By STANLEY JAMES
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON: Some of the best informed officials in Washington think tension inside Russia—among at least three factions seeking to increase power in the complex communist structure—is rapidly increasing.

It is impossible to predict when this struggle will break into the open or even when it will force a showdown in the Kremlin the outside world will know about at the time. But it is slowly building up, according to expert opinion.

The three centers of power in Russia at present are said to be Premier Malenkov, of course, Nikita Khrushchev, Moscow party chief and agricultural czar of all Russia, and several top Army leaders.

Foreign Minister Molotov seems to have lost out a bit in recent months, although it is not known whether the Kremlin leaders were glad or sorry to see Vishinski depart this earth in New York recently. His death in New York, however, was certainly convenient proof to the Russian people that he had not been purged.

In recent months the Army seems to have replaced one of the original Big Three in Moscow and Khrushchev the other. Immediately after Stalin's death, the Big Three were Malenkov, Beria and Molotov—or so it was thought. Now the only one of the original threesome is Malenkov.

Trouble—if it comes—might involve the Army, or Khrushchev, or both, versus Malenkov. Although Malenkov had the Army with him in the showdown with Beria, the Army's power has grown so much that Malenkov might become hesitant about furthering the military bloc.

In that case, Khrushchev and the Army would probably be the only combination of power which could

RATHER FORGETFUL

Oklahoma City. — Distressed, Albert Henry Jordan, 59, summoned two detectives and told them his wallet was missing. After hearing his story, the policemen lifted his mattress and there they found the missing billfold containing $1,100. "Guess I put it there and forgot it," Jordan reasoned.

JOBLESS

The Government reported a 151,000 increase in the number of unemployed that brought the total of jobless as of early November, to 2,893,000. The rise, largely attributable to seasonal farm layoffs, was less than expected, it was said.

TRAIN BLOWN FROM TRACK

Innsbruck, Austria. — A windstorm of such velocity hit this area recently that a train, plying between Innsbruck and Solbad Hall was swept from the track and struck a car traveling on a high-way parallel to the rail line. The train — a car and an engine — weighed 18½ tons.

NUMBER 12 SIZE WIRE MINIMUM

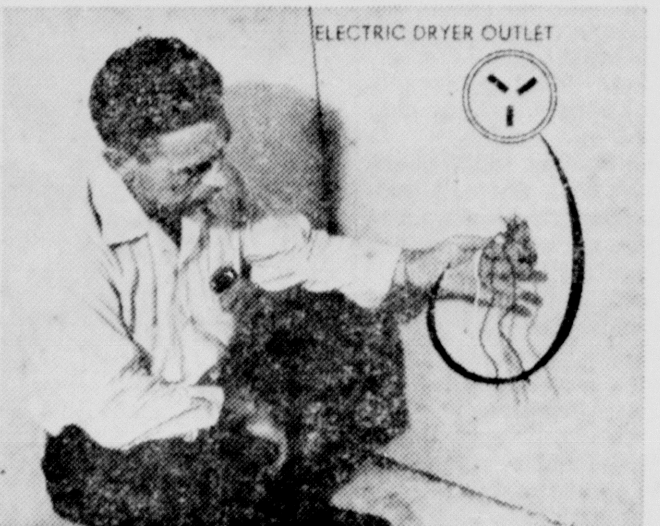

Mr. Murphy has put large enough wire in his house so that all electric appliances get sufficient voltage for proper operation. He says, "I've used #12 wire as minimum on all circuits with larger wire in the heavy duty circuits—#6 for the electric range and #10 for the electric dryer."

"Here you see 8 circuits with provision for a future 8 more. In addition, there are separate circuits for the electric range and electric dryer. The kitchen, for example, has two appliance circuits for coffee-makers, waffle irons, toasters, etc."

"All I'll have to do here is plug in my electric range. What's more, the wire used is #6 which means that the range will operate at top efficiency. Wire of the right size is an important part of electric appliance operation."

"This is the wiring for the electric dryer as it appears before the three-wire outlet is installed and the walls finished. It's easier to get the right wiring at the time the house is being built. I've planned mine accordingly."

NOT MORE THAN 6 FEET FROM LAMP TO ANY OUTLET

To avoid a tangle of extension cords, outlets should be spaced not more than 12 feet apart. Mr. Murphy here shows Public Service wiring specialist that his complies with this important provision.

Modern living calls for sun lamps, heat lamps, electric shavers and other uses for bathroom outlets. In both of Mr. Murphy's baths, an electric outlet is placed for maximum convenience.

Public Service maintains an Adequate Wiring department. We will be glad to work with your electrical contractor, builder or architect on your home, office or factory wiring or rewiring.

Around the Town...

(By Mrs. Clyde W. Warwick)

The Woman's Book Club met last Wednesday afternoon in the Museum. I wanted a story about the Museum so went early. As I entered I saw Miss Edna Graham and Milton Morris talking to two women. I joined them and found they were Miss S. Hartemink and Miss Giny Abels, home economic teachers from the Netherlands, who had come to the United States for an eight month visit and were on their way to California.

They had been visiting relatives in Detroit when they found they could drive a car to California for people who wanted their car transported to California and would pay $25 on their expenses.

So, they were driving this 1954 Cadillac to California and were delighted that they had this opportunity to see more of the United States. They had met Mr. Thys Brooksma, who is an emigrant from the Netherlands and has been over here for one year and he had joined them.

On their way they had stopped in Wichita Falls where someone had told them they must stop in Canyon and see the Museum and the Palo Duro Park. Miss Graham, who has visited their country and is greatly interested in it had invited them to spend the night with her, and also to attend the meeting of the Woman's Book Club. After the meeting I took them to the Park and by to see the beautiful home of Mrs. George Nance; then to dinner. Miss Graham took them for a tour of the college Thursday and we all met for lunch at the college cafeteria. After which they left, intending to stop next at Carlsbad Cavern.

They had been in the United States four months and were delighted with everything and everybody. To them our country was unbelievable, and they said no one in the Netherlands would believe what they had to tell them about our country, our people, and the way we live. Being home economics teachers, they were interested in our kitchens which they thought were so beautiful, saying their kitchens were never pretty like ours; that they did not have our conveniences, did not have any kind of ice boxes. They said they did not need them as it was never hot there and their milk, bread and groceries were brought to their doors every day.

They were amazed at how much cheaper things are here than in The Netherlands. There one egg costs 20 cents, $2.40 cents a dozen, bacon is $1.25 a pound and meat so high not many could afford it. Nearly all meat is imported, as is the chicken feed and that is the reason for the high price of eggs. All land under cultivation is used to produce food for the people. There are over 300 people for each section of land, on an area of 12,648 sq. mi. they have a population of 9,542,659.

They were surprised that we keep all the doors open in our houses. They do not have central heating, never heat their bedrooms and kitchen and always keep the doors to every room closed.

Most of their days are misty and damp. It rains 204 days of the year, and they liked our sunny weather.

The men of the Netherlands do not marry until they are around 30 years old as they cannot earn enough to support a wife before that.

College students are not allowed to do any work to support themselves while in college. This is the same as in France.

They had come over paying their own expenses and said the trip was quite expensive. They had saved two years for it and many people in The Netherlands thought they were foolish to spend their money that way, but, they said, "How could you spend money better than to come to see this wonderful country America."

"I sought the Lord, and he heard me, and delivered me from all my fears." —Psalm 34:4.

George Washington in his First Annual Address to the Congress of the United States, January 8, 1790, said, "To be prepared for war is one of the most effectual means of preserving peace."

President Dwight D. Eisenhower in his address to the Congress of the United States January 6, 1955, said, "To protect our nations and our peoples from the catastrophe of a nuclear holocaust, free nations must maintain countervailing military power to persuade the Communists of the futility of seeking their ends through aggression."

The words have changed, the meaning is the same.

Dr. Edward Henderson, of Montclair, editor-in-chief of the Journal of the American Geriatrics Society, addressed the Texas Geriatrics Society of Dallas. Geriatrics is a branch of medicine dealing with old age and its diseases.

Dr. Henderson forecast a life expectancy of 100 years. He said between 1850 and 1950 the American life expectancy increased from 38 to 68, and research scientists are now trying to find ways to increase it still more.

He made clear that he was not just talking of adding years to a person's life — creating a living vegetable — but of increasing the span of useful happy years.

Dr. Henderson would do well to come to Canyon for his studies. When men and women as vigorous, happy, useful claim 80 years and past, as Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bennett, John Guthrie, L. B. Penick, Mote Sanders, Mrs. Mittie Workman, C. M. Dowlen, Tom Cockran, Mrs. L. J. McGehee, Mrs. B. F. Fronabarger, Mrs. Erie Murphy, John Knight, Mrs. L. S. Gore, Mrs. I. C. Jenkins, Mrs. Emma Foster, Mrs. Laura Oldham, J. A. Moore, and many others, I am sure whom I do not know who, to all present appearance will easily live to 100 years. They have slowed down some, but all are living useful, happy lives.

One specialist in geriatrics says doing housework will aid women in living longer. Could be it just seems longer, but if this be true, then the men better start doing housework. They need to find some way to prolong their lives more than women do.

WARREN'S

Jack T. Hughes, Curator of Paleontology, of the Panhandle Plains Museum, is working on the assembly of a giant ground sloth and the construction of a large scale model showing the formations of the Palo Duro Canyon.

The Museum has a collection that is known, valued and appreciated by people all over the world as shown in the attendance this last year. Visitors came to the Museum this year from every state in the United States and from 20 foreign countries. Since 1933, when it was opened to the public, 954,495 people have registered at the Museum, to see its interesting and authentic displays of the past.

Among the interesting, successful graduates of WTSC is Dr. Ivy Parker, field technologist with Plantation Pipe Line Co.

The Daily Oil News, Chicago, Ill., says she is one of the outstanding pipelineers of the U. S., and at the same time is one of the top experts in the field of corrosion, and filtration practices in the pipe industry.

She entered West Texas State College in Canyon with the idea of becoming a teacher. She picked science as a subject for a term theme in sophomore English. Her instructor not only gave her an "A" for her effort, but also entered it in the Garvan Foundation essay contest. To Ivy's surprise, the paper took first place in the nation, and the reward was $500.

This was the turning point. She decided on a straight scientific career, and whizzed through her undergraduate work in three years. She entered Texas University determined not to stop short of a Ph.D. in organic chemistry. And her dissertation was on the destructive distillation of cottonseed meal. This work more or less disproved that petroleum was formed by the action of terrestrial heat on animal and vegetable compounds.

Her first job was with Shell Oil Co., where she spent seven years. She left Shell to do research work in the Old Ocean field in Texas.

Dr. Parker is a member of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers. Preventing and cutting down corrosion in pipes carrying petroleum products is her job, and because of years of study and practice in this field the "lady engineer" is respected by men who work with her. This article about Dr. Parker was headed, "Ivy's No Clinging Vine, but a Real Pipelineer."

Dr. Parker has compiled two books which have been published by the National Association of Corrosion Engineers. They are titled "Bibliographic Survey of Corrosion"—1946-47 and the same in 1948-49. She has been editor of Corrosion, official publication of National Association, since it started in 1945. This is a monthly magazine.

She's feminine, quick-witted and like most women, her greatest pride is in her cooking. Yet, at the same time she is one of the top experts in the field of corrosion, and filtration in the pipe line industry.

Dr. Parker visits in Canyon with her brother and family, Otis Parker, and this Christmas the Parkers visited with Dr. Parker in Atlanta, Georgia.

Mrs. Laura SoRelle has returned from a visit with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Bohannon and their two daughters, Linda Kathryn, four years old, and Doretta Jane, one year old, in Pacific Parkway, California. Mrs. SoRelle said she had a wonderful time and that it rained nearly day she was there.

Chronic Diseases Hard to Handle

AUSTIN: State Health Officer Henry A. Holle believes chronic diseases represent one of the biggest problems facing health officials today.

Recent statistics compiled by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, Texas State Department of Health, show:

1. 23% of all deaths among 15-29 year olds are due to chronic diseases, with malignant neoplasms being the leading chronic disease.

2. "Well over half" the mortality in the 30-44 age group is due to chronic disease, with heart trouble, cancer and vascular lesions being the leaders.

3. "Almost 8 out of 10" deaths in the 45-59 bracket are caused by this disease classification, with the proportion rising to 85 per cent for those 60 to 74 years old.

4. For those 75 and over chronic diseases cause 84 per cent of the total mortality. The slight decrease in percentage over age 75 is because of the high susceptibility to accidents, pneumonia, and influenza among the aged.

"When chronic disease is mentioned, all too many people think of the problem as being confined to the middle-aged or older," the health chief said, adding that such an idea was not consistent with the facts.

"The term chronic," Dr. Holle explained, "means the opposite of acute. When applied to a disease, chronic means of long duration. That would mean cancer or tuberculosis is chronic, while smallpox or poliomyelitis is acute."

"The significant thing," Dr. Holle indicated, "is that the chronic diseases classification causes 23% of all deaths among young people in the 15-29 age bracket."

"Obviously, that makes the teen ages the first age at which the diseases assume a major mortality role."

The North Atlantic Council recently adopted a report that in effect empowered the use of atomic and other new weapons to meet aggression in Europe.

Hazen G. Werner, Methodist Bishop: "There is a growing solidarity within the American family."

Ethridge Belt, president, Colorado Beekeepers Association: "A bee doesn't go out looking for trouble—he must be agitated to sting."

J. Edgar Hoover, director, Federal Bureau of Investigation: "The FBI would never engage in any activity which might result in stifling academic freedom."

Act Your Age

Recently, a small group of individuals seem to think that the library shelves are private property on which they can express their artistic and creative abilities.

These privileged characters have adorned the shelves and equipment with obscene language and altered the shelf supports apparently, to attract the attention of the student body to their muscular and mental achievements.

Do these individuals behave like this at home? Do they carve their initials into anything that is handy, and doodle on the wall paper? If they don't, someone must have given them the idea that since the school property is paid for and doesn't belong to them, it doesn't matter what they do with it, nor how they damage the reputation of those who are inwardly proud of their school and its awards. Most of us passed that stage along about the first and second grade when we learned that "me" is not the most important word in the English language.

If these select few regard dirty jokes and swearing as a highly intelligent means of expression why don't they write a theme containing their pet phrases, sign it, and pin it up on the bulletin board where everyone can admire their handiwork?

Evidently, these persons must think their actions are highly humorous, but they seem to forget that anyone can live with his or her mind in the gutter. It takes more backbone, courage, and stamina to stand up like a man and think with a mind clear of trash, and to follow their own convictions than to be a slave and a jellyfish to the thoughts and actions of a few.

A Luxury?

We, the young people of Canyon need a youth center!

Being young people of normal vitality we are not ready to leave our friends by the time our town rolls in its sidewalks. At this time there are but two alternatives: we jump in a car and ride up and down the city streets or we seek entertainment outside the city limits.

The first alternative is not good because we necessarily limit our association to the number the car will hold. In an attempt to relieve the boredom we sometimes let our driving become a little careless.

Seeking entertainment outside the city limits is not the answer either. It is more dangerous both physically and morally in Amarillo. Yet we students for the most part would prefer to stay here among groups of our friends, if there were something to do.

We appeal to our elders — provide us with a place to meet our friends and have fun in our own town. We ask only a chance to do what is right for ourselves and our community. The cost would be negligible if one accident were prevented, one life saved.

Crocker Offers Girls Scholarship

General Mills now announces the first Betty Crocker search for the homemaker of tomorrow. On January 12th, senior high school girls throughout the United States were given an opportunity to compete for a $5,000 scholarship plus a Betty Crocker homemaker pin, and also the opportunity to make an educational tour of the United States.

Thirty-two senior girls from Canyon High School participated in this competition by taking an hour test consisting of 145 multiple choice questions and an essay question on "In What Ways Is Homemaking More Important Than Housekeeping." This test was designed not only to choose the winners of the "Search of the American Homemaker of Tomorrow Contest," but to give the girls a better idea of the kinds of knowledge they will need to have before they go into their own homes.

Besides the national winner, 47 state winners will also be selected. State winners will receive a $1,500 scholarship, plus a golden jeweled Homemaker of Tomorrow pin; and also each state representative chosen by Betty Crocker will, accompanied by a teacher from her school, be the guest of Betty Crocker on an all-expense paid educational tour of some of America's most historic shrines. In addition each of these girls will also bring home a complete set of the latest edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica for her school library.

And, of course, there will be an award for the girl scoring highest on the test in each high school. She will get a golden pin designed by Trifari of New York, the Betty Crocker homemaker award, plus a Betty Crocker Picture Cookbook for herself, and an additional copy for her school library.

Classes Discuss City Government

Civics students enjoyed a class discussion with Judge Roy Joe Stevens last week. Mr. Stevens was at the high school Tuesday for three civics classes. The classes discussed and asked questions about the E-way, the new school, county bond issues, and juvenile delinquency.

Mr. Stevens drew diagrams of the E-way and gave estimates as to costs and progress on the road. He explained county bond situations and the problems involved in the new grade school building.

According to Mr. Stevens, three out of 12 delinquents from Canyon will spend part of their lives in penitentiaries, costing the citizens of this county $3,000 per year. He thinks that a Student Union would help to remedy this situation. Mr. Stevens said that he would back a petition and would like to see such a place established.

This program is the conclusion of a five chapter study of state, county, and city governments. A sincere thanks from every civics student to Mr. Stevens. The discussion was fun, interesting and educational for every student who is interested in Canyon and Randall County.

Lone Star Boys State Is Chance To Learn Citizen Responsibilities

"To educate our youth in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American Citizenship" is the objective of the Lone Star Boys State held annually at Austin. The representatives to Boys State from CHS this last year were Jack McCormick and Ken Kuykendall.

For one week in June, June 13 to 19, in 1954, representatives from high schools over Texas enjoy a program of education, recreation, and fellowship at Boys State which is sponsored by the American Legion. Representatives are selected who have the following qualifications. The individual must be a white student who is a junior in senior high school, and cannot have attended Boys State previously. He should be an average boy and the election should be made on this basis: leadership, 50%; character and integrity, 25%; and scholarship, 25%. Various organizations may sponsor representatives, and in Canyon the sponsors are the Lion and Rotary Clubs.

Boys State is organized according to the plan of a regular state government with boys being assigned to political parties, cities and counties. As in a regular state government, the boys are elected to hold offices in these divisions.

The two parties in 1954 were the Longhorn and Pioneer parties, and both Jack and Ken were members of the Longhorn party. In the cities, Jack was a member of Towns City and Ken, Davis City. In the

Dr. Bright Holds Choral Workshop

A choral workshop was held Friday, January 14, at 2:30 in the high school auditorium for CHS choral groups. Dr. Houston Bright, director of choir students at West Texas State, is working with the music groups.

The workshop's purpose was to discover and improve weaknesses before the choral contest, April 20, at West Texas State.

Dr. Bright brought part of his bass and tenor sections to work with the CHS groups.

Songs that were worked on are: "God Be In My Hand" by Edmundson, "When Rooks Fly Homeward" by Baynon, "Savior Source of Every Blessing" by Mozart, and "The Farm Yard," an old London folk song.

West Texas clinic was originally an all day affair at the campus, with students from surrounding towns taking part, but due to semester tests and basketball games, the workshop was called off. The CHS chorus was lucky that they could continue their musical workshop.

There were 75 members taking part in the workshop, all of which are directed by Miss Ada V. Clark.

Journey of Ring Near Destination

Following a rapid investigation, a possible owner of the mysterious 1932 class ring found in a Texas University dormitory has been located.

Ray Small of Amarillo has been identified as a possible owner of the ring found by Richard Sanders, CHS ex-graduate. Mr. Small attended TU in the summer of 1954, and lost his class ring sometime during the term. He was a graduate of the class of 1932 and was studying business management last year. The ring is inscribed with the initials L R S which correspond with those of Mr. Small. The return of the ring is pending the approval of Mrs. Dan Sanders, present owner, who was called away unexpectedly, because of a sudden illness in the family.

Birthdays Come Only Once a Year

Mr. Schuette and his shorthand class surprised Miss Freddie Donaldson on her birthday last week. The class finished their work early and took about ten minutes at the last of the period to present Miss Donaldson with a beautiful set of Chinese bookends.

Miss Donaldson, of Canadian, is a senior at West Texas State, and has completed a semester of student teaching as of last Friday. She is majoring in secretarial work and will graduate at the end of the spring term.

During the first semester, the shorthand class has come to like Miss Donaldson very much, and would like very much to have her stay for the second semester.

Completion of Building Addition Awaits Arrival of New Equipment

Following the arriving of laboratory equipment, bleachers, furniture, and basketball goals, the CHS student body will be able to move into the new modern building. The fixtures should arrive sometime this week and a short time will be taken for installing them.

Colors used throughout the building are green, tan, grey, and yellow. Installation of windows, doors, heating system, light fixtures, interior plaster, gymnasium floors, built-in features, such as lockers and chalk boards have been completed.

The basketball court is 98x80 and the seating arrangement has the capacity of 800 people. The gymnasium has dressing rooms containing six showers each for both boys and girls.

The living and dining rooms in the homemaker department are very fashionable. Chartreuse folding closet doors are an outstanding attraction. Formica cabinets have been placed in the cooking laboratory. The kitchen has six different kitchenettes for the convenience of students and teachers. A miniature stage for fashion revues is a highlight of the sewing department. On one side of the stage are two small dressing rooms.

Behind the miniature stage in the hall is a show case to display all trophies and other medals won. Fixtures for the science laboratory have not yet arrived, but one thing that will be useful is the large store room.

Cooper, Warwick Provide Program

Marie Cooper, local beautician, featured some of the new hair styles of 1955 by exhibiting various hair fashions modeled by Patricia Hardaway, Laverne Riley, Faye Lowrey, and Nancy Adcock at the FFA meeting, held Thursday night, Jan. 13th in the CHS cafeteria. Another feature of the evening was a talk on segregation, the most popular news story of 1954, delivered by Mr. Clyde W. Warwick, Canyon News editor.

Other entertainment of the evening was provided by the fifth period ensemble, and the sophomore ensemble under the direction of Miss Ada V. Clark. Fanita Marshall accompanied both groups at the piano.

Plans for the annual sweetheart banquet were begun. Special committees were appointed to work on specific features of this event by June Davis, FFA president. Nancy Tomlinson is chairman of the entire banquet. Committee heads are Diane Prichard, Jerry Matsler, Martha Jones, Anna Marie Barker, Rachel Smith, Janis Wright, Virginia Leake, Virginia Walker and Debra McDonald.

Colorful refreshments of cranberry punch, brownies, and fudge, prepared by the Homemaker I classes, were served by Karel Johnson and Aralene Bagley.

Menus

Tuesday, Jan. 18 — Meat balls, spaghetti, green peas, tossed salad, bread, butter, cherry cobbler, and milk.

Wednesday, Jan. 19 — Pinto beans, canned tomatoes, cheese, cabbage-pickle salad, cornbread, butter, fruit jello, and milk.

Thursday, Jan. 20 — Chicken, dressing, English peas, cranberry sauce, bread, butter, peanut butter cookies, and milk.

Friday, Jan. 21 — Salmon patties, cheese topped potatoes, tossed salad, bread, butter, peach cobbler, and milk.

Band To Attend Workshop Clinic

Canyon High School Band will attend a workshop clinic at West Texas State Wednesday afternoon and Thursday morning, January 19 and 20.

M. J. Newman, director of the Buffalo Band, will hold the clinic in order for the CHS organization to be better prepared for a concert. At the concert, candidates for Band Queen will be presented and announcement of the Queen will be released. Nominees for the reigning title are: Betty Burrus, Martha Quillen and June Davis.

Most of the clinic work will be based on "Scotch Folk Suite" and "Carnival Day in New Orleans."

Mr. Herman Demus announced. Music that will be worked on during the clinic are: "Huldigungs-marsh," "Scotch Folk Suite," "Liberty Bell," "Carnival Day in New Orleans," "Beginner's Luck," "Blue Fantasy" and "Officer of the Day March."

Dr. Alexander G. Gilliam, National Cancer Institute official: "The link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer has been definitely established."

B SQUAD POUNDS PHILLIPS

Canyon's B squad bumped off the Hawks' underclassman team, 56 to 34, in a preliminary game before the A squads took the court last Tuesday, January 11.

Scores by quarters were 14 to 6, 29 to 12, 40 to 23, and 56 to 34 with Canyon in front all the way. Cross, Canyon center, led scoring with 18 points followed by Cunningham with 12. All team members played.

Dalhart Downs Eagles

In a tough scuffle the Eagles were finally scuttled by the Dalhart cage squad 60 to 52 after a long battle last Friday night, Jan. 14.

Canyon did win the first period of play, ending the eight minutes with a 2 point lead over Dalhart but their lead in the remaining quarters of play fell to the Wolves.

In the first quarter the score read in favor of Canyon, 13 to 11. Following the first quarter the scoreboard favored the Wolves with a 36 to 23, 44 to 34, and 60 to 52 edge over the Eagles the remainder of the game.

Although the Eaglettes played one of the finest games they have played all season, the girls were defeated by Claude, 58-43, in the Tulia Tournament January 13.

Traveling to Tulia again, the girls met Olton on last Friday afternoon and lost 40-30.

Eaglettes Lose Exciting Game

In a suspense-packed overtime January 14, the Eaglettes lost a conference game to Dalhart, 28-27.

From the first of the game both teams fought hard, but had trouble sinking goals as is shown by the halftime score of only 12-9 in favor of Canyon. Toward the latter part of the fourth quarter, Canyon dropped two foul shots to break the 19-19 tie, and Dalhart quickly retaliated with two more foul shots which again evened the score. As the final buzzer sounded it was a tension tight 25-25.

The Eaglettes failed to climb ahead in the overtime, and Dalhart sank a foul shot that took a one point victory.

Slush Is More Dangerous Than Ice in Driving

Believe it or not, it's twice as hard to stop your car on ice when the temperature is barely freezing than it is when the temperature registers zero!

This information was given out by R. B. Roaper of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, as he discussed the winter hazards program which the Texas Safety Association and the Texas Department of Public Safety is now conducting in cooperation with the National Safety Council.

"Temperature plays an all important part in breaking distances and possible traction on snow and ice," Mr. Roaper said. "As the temperature rises, ice (and, to a lesser degree, snow) becomes much more slippery. For example, at 20 m. p. h. when the temperature is 32 degrees F., stopping distance without tire chains is 250 feet. When the temperature is 0 degrees F., stopping distance is 110 feet. This is a difference of 140 feet — a distance that might well cause a serious accident."

According to Mr. Roaper, this action of ice in response to temperature presents a real hazard to the unwary driver who doesn't appreciate the need for extra caution when ice is on the verge of thawing. He said that is why it's important for the driver to "get the feel of the road" by trying out his brakes while driving slowly and away from traffic.

"Take the driver who starts out on an icy road early in the morning while it's still quite cold," Mr. Roaper explained. "He finds 'pulling away' traction and stopping ability fairly good. But as the sun comes out and the temperature rises, he doesn't realize that the ice will become much more treacherous. When he finds he can't stop in time to avoid an accident, it's often too late to put on chains."

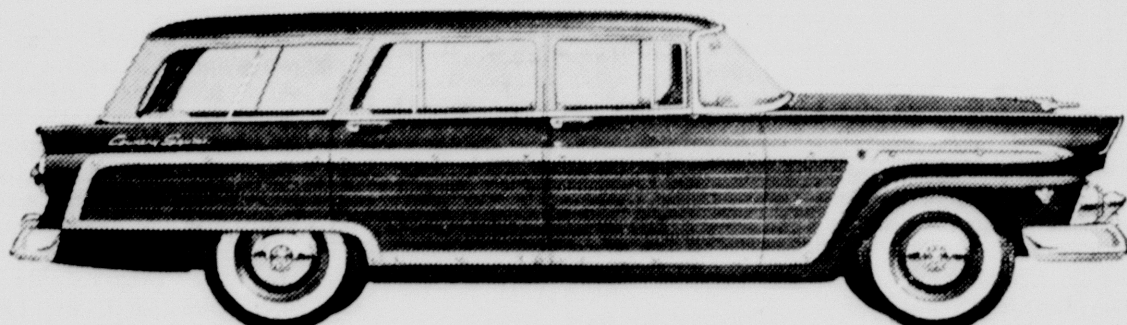

Mr. Roaper said that a driver's only safeguards in slippery weather are increased caution and decreased speed. He believes, "Slow up in a freeze up" is still the best rule of thumb for safety.

Harry S. Truman, former President: "Someday the Russians will have a free government with which we can carry on relations and business just as we do with England and France."

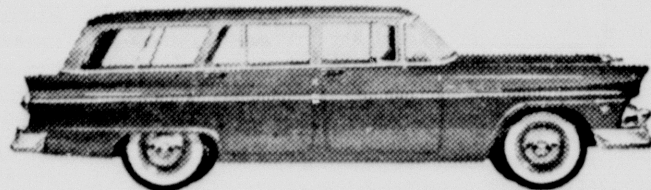

Roland H. Bainton, Yale University theologian: "Better to come under the heel of the tyrant and go uncorrupted than be agents in the destruction of our own heritage of freedom."

Dr. Julian P. Price, pediatrician: "The greatest need of our country today—and of our profession—is a spiritual rebirth, a return to God and His eternal principles."

AUSTIN: Cigarettes and gasoline are to be the prime tax targets of the 54th Legislature.

In his message to the Legislature, at a joint Senate and House Session, Governor Allan Shivers put his finger on those two items as the answers to Texas' financial problem.

He suggested a two cent per gallon boost in gasoline taxes and a one cent per pack increase in the cigarette tax.

The former would add $45 million to the highway fund and $14.5 million to the school fund. The latter would bring in an additional $16.5 million to the general fund.

Gasoline now carries a state tax of 4c per gallon. Cigarettes are taxed 4c per pack.

Also recommended by the governor was an increase to $50 in the tuition charge made by state colleges to Texas students. Present fee is $25, for Texas residents. The $150 charge assessed out-of-state students would not be changed.

Shivers also asked for better water laws, insurance laws, crime and juvenile delinquency measures and congressional and judicial re-districting.

Opposes Increase

First signs of opposition to increased taxation have come from Rep. Waggoner Carr of Lubbock. Carr, who may be voicing the opinion of other conservative legislators, says that much of the needed money could come from trimming present state expenses.

General Fund Low

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert estimates the state's general fund, now slightly more than $9 million may hit bottom temporarily in February, and put the state on a general fund deficit for a short time.

If the state goes in the red, it will be the first time in 12 years. Calvert estimates that there will be only $10,344,000 in the fund by the close of the fiscal year, September 1.

New House Speaker

Rep. Jim T. Lindsey of Texarkana is the new Speaker of the House.

He was elected unanimously the first day of the 1955 session as lawmakers wasted no time getting down to business.

Veterans Land Board

First official act of the 54th Legislature was to order a complete look into the Veterans' Land Program.

Investigations were resumed a day later by the Senate General Investigating Committee.

A Feb. 15 completion deadline is set.

Dennis Wallace, a 20-year employee of the State Land Office, is now acting executive secretary of the Board. He took over temporarily upon resignation of Lawrence C. Jackson.

Col. J. Earl Rudder, land commissioner, has announced the resignation of two other key employees: U. S. McCutcheon, first assistant executive secretary, and H. Lee Richey of Austin, appraiser for the South Texas area.

Conservative Leaders

Two conservatives held important House committees in the Texas Legislature. They will have a lot to say about finding and spending $135 million for state operations.

Rep. Max C. Smith of San Marcos was re-appointed chairman of the House appropriations committee.

Rep. Stanton Stone heads the revenue and taxation committee.

Prison Board

Members of the Texas Prison Board will not ask the Legislature for more building funds although they admit construction is needed.

Chairman French Robertson said that prison population is at an all-time high, that facilities are needed, but that cost would be tremendous.

Women Jurors

A new law providing for women jurors will be presented the Legislature by Rep. DeWitt Hale of Corpus Christi.

Hale would eliminate the qualification that a juror must be a county householder or state freeholder.

He will also ask for exemptions for nurses, expectant mothers, and mothers of young children.

Fair Trade Bill

A "disguised" fair trade bill may be introduced in the Legislature, says a former House member.

It will be masked as a curb to "discount houses" but will basically be a measure to keep merchants from cutting manufacturers' prices.

No state fair-trade bill has ever been acted in Texas. Unfair competition is barred by Texas' anti-trust law.

Short Snorts

Dan Moody, Jr., of Austin, son of former Gov. Dan Moody, has been appointed parliamentary officer of the Senate by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey. Rep. Jerry Sadler of Pecos says he will introduce legislation increasing state junior colleges to 51 and cutting off the first two years of instruction at the University of Texas. U. S. District Attorney Charles F. Herring, whose resignation was refused by the Attorney General of the United States, calls Texas "a national gateway" for bootleg drugs. Department of Public Safety Narcotics expert W. E. Naylor says millions of dollars worth of narcotics are being illegally transported into the U. S. from Mexico, over the Rio-Grande. Plans of the Trinity Improvement Association call for large lakes and seven locks on the Trinity River between the Gulf Coast and the Dallas-Ft. Worth area to make the river into a navigable canal.

Project Will Tame Wild River System

One of the last and greatest of America's great reclamation projects, the taming of the upper half of the unruly Colorado River and its tributaries, comes before Congress this spring for approval.

The plan, nearly 50 years in preparation, will complete the mastery of a river which long has fascinated the expert engineers of the Far West.

The Colorado defied the efforts of man to control it for hundreds of years. Control of the lower half came possible after the seven states of the Colorado River Basin—Arizona, California, Colorado, New Mexico, Nevada, Utah and Wyoming—agreed in 1922 to a division of the waters.

With the agreement, it became possible to construct the huge dams, canals and aqueducts which now store and utilize the flow of this river in the Lower Basin.

The engineering masterpieces of Hoover Dam, Parker Dam, and Davis Dam and the water supplied to Southern California were largely responsible for that area's fantastic development.

Now, after many years of study by hundreds of engineers, and the expenditure of $10,000,000 in tests and surveys, a comprehensive, basin-wide development has been recommended by the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation and the four-state Upper Colorado River Commission.

The plan for the basin-wide development is a long-range one, developed to utilize the resources of the Colorado River and its tributaries to the utmost, within the limitations of the 33-year-old Colorado River Compact.

Under that compact, the four Upper Basin states of Colorado, New Mexico, Utah and Wyoming agreed to deliver a total of 75 million acre feet of water to the three Lower Basin states of Arizona, California and Nevada every 10 years. So the primary concern in the Upper Colorado River Storage project was given to stream regulation; to dams that will permit storage of water so that the upper states can deliver the water they have guaranteed. They also will develop considerable hydroelectric power.

This power will be used, not only to pay for the six initial major dams, but for the difference between what irrigation farmers can afford to pay on 17 participating projects, and the total costs of those projects.

First of the six major dams, going upstream from the division point at Lee's Ferry between upper and lower basin states, is Glen Canyon.

This huge reservoir will back water 86 miles up the Colorado River and 71 miles up the San Juan River, one of the Colorado's major tributaries. Here will be the major storage for release to Lower Basin states, held behind a 580-foot dam.

Second, and perhaps most important of the dams, is the one at Pat Lynch Hole (recently renamed Echo Park) just across the Utah line in Colorado on the Green River, a short distance below its junction with the Yampa River.

The deep canyons of the Green and Yampa Rivers long have been recognized by engineers as excellent sites for large storage reservoirs. The water would be backed up in the bottom of narrow gorges, for the most part, and evaporation loss, so important in the arid Western states, would be less than at any comparable locations.

So important did Western residents consider the sites that they persuaded President Roosevelt, when he enlarged Dinosaur Monument in 1938, to reserve the power and irrigation uses of the area, exempting them from the law which forbids dams in national parks and monuments. The Echo Park Dam is located 20 miles above the original Dinosaur National Monument.

There are thousands of spectacular canyons in Colorado and Utah along the Colorado River and its tributaries, but few of them suitable for dams and reservoirs.

Two of these sites are among the first six dams: Flaming Gorge, above Echo Park on the Green River, and Cross Mountain, above Echo Park on the Yampa River. Two other sites, Split Mountain, just below Echo Park but still above the original monument; and Gray Canyon, below the junction of the White and Green Rivers in Utah, are planned for later development.

The main dams will be interconnected by a power grid; power produced by Glen Canyon, Echo Park, Flaming Gorge and Cross Mountain, with the addition of Curecanti Dam on the Gunnison River in Colorado, will be fed into a common network and bought by the private and public utility companies of the four Upper Basin States.

And the water impounded by

Flaming Gorge, Cross Mountain, Curecanti and Navajo Dam in New Mexico will be used for irrigation projects and in some cases for diversions to the water-short cities which lie directly outside the Colorado Basin—Salt Lake City in Utah, Denver in Colorado, and Albuquerque and the atom city of Los Alamos in New Mexico.

This plan, with its comprehensive stream regulation, power and irrigation projects, forecasts a development for the four Upper Basin states that rivals the development of the Lower Basin states and will add new riches to all the United States.

OASIS IN THE DESERT—The value of water for irrigation is shown here in the Grand Valley of Colorado; the desert bluffs contrast sharply with the irrigated orchards and fields of the valleys, where water makes farming possible.

PLEASANTVIEW H. D. C. GUESTS TO LUNCHEON IN BURTZ HOME

On Wednesday morning, January 12, members and guests of the Pleasantview Home Demonstration Club were guests of Mrs. Earl Burtz to luncheon.

Draped with a dark green cloth and appointed with white china the serving table was centered with an arrangement of fruit on a tiered silver tray.

After luncheon the meeting was called to order for a short ceremony installing the new officers by Mrs. Cristler Crain, the outgoing president.

Mrs. E. L. Cranmer, the new president, presided over the business session after which Mrs. Crain gave a demonstration on the making of copper jewelry. Several ear screws and pins were made.

Those present were Mesdames Clifford Burtz, M. B. Brown, Joe Carver, Crain, Cranmer, A. B. Haynes, Jr., Roy Henderson, J. W. Howell, John Jennings, Bud Keller, Tom Moore, Clifford Prichard, Ray Welch, members; Jim Bible, Bill Cleavinger, and Bill Martin, guests.

Next meeting will be held Jan. 26 in the home of Mrs. J. W. Howell at 2:30 p. m.

Bill Andis Writes of Opening of the State Legislature

By State Representative Bill Andis

The 54th Legislature convened Tuesday, organized quickly, and Wednesday heard Governor Allan Shivers lay out his far-reaching administrative program of State development, expanded State services, conservation, State spending, and taxation.

His address quickly won the admiration of many members of the House and Senate. He not only outlined his program but he offered a solution. This Legislature has been clearly tagged the "three penny session." This unfolded in his program of a two-cent gasoline tax increase and a one-cent cigarette tax increase. A clear majority were surprised when he drew a precise bead on his tax target.

On the opening day of the Legislature genial Jim Lindsey of Texarkana became one of the three youngest speakers of the House of Representatives in Texas history. Lindsey was the lone nominee for the office. Lindsey was escorted to the Speaker's rostrum by a committee of eight House members . . . and it was my privilege to be chosen as one of the escorts.

The House committee assignments were read on Wednesday and they spelled out a busy four months for the Panhandle legislators. It was my good fortune to be chosen as Chairman of the Rules Committee and a member of the Congressional and Legislative Districts Committee, the Military and Veteran's Affairs Committee, the Motor Traffic Committee, and the State Affairs Committee.

The Rules Committee has jurisdiction over the House Rules and assists in expediting the business of the House, and to aid the Speaker. The Committee further supervises all employment problems in the House.

All questions regarding State policy, the administration of State government, and matters relating to the funding, refunding and payment of the public debt if the State are under jurisdiction of the State Affairs Committee.

The Military and veteran's Affairs Committee has jurisdiction over all matters pertaining to veterans and to all matters pertaining to the defense of the State and Nation.

All matters relating to the reapportion or redistricting of counties into congressional or legislative districts are referred to the Committee on Congressional and Legislative Districts. This Committee this Session will attempt to locate the extra seat in Congress that is now shared by the State at large.

The Motor Traffic Committee has control over all matters relating to the control, regulation, licensing and operation of commercial motor vehicles.

Presently, the lawmakers are readying hundreds of bills to carry forward the recommended program and legislative projects of their own. Water conservation, correction of insurance and veterans land laws, strengthening of juvenile and criminal and narcotics laws, increasing the highway patrol, improvements to the prison and A. & M. College's Extension Service facilities, increase of tuition in State colleges, changes in State labor laws, etc., are among the initial highlights.

Your views and comments on any legislation are invited and particularly would I appreciate having the thoughts of the people of District 94F, composed of Potter, Carson, Randall and Armstrong Counties on the Governor's proposed tax increase of two cents on gasoline and one cent on cigarettes.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

President Eisenhower is being informed by Democratic leaders in Congress that they will insist on much more money for farm-to-market roads if there is to be a big federal program for building superhighways.

White House economic advisers are pleased that the stock market has not tried to fight the Federal Reserve Board, which is interested in keeping speculation well in hand. Markets have calmed somewhat since the Reserve Board sounded a warning with a moderate rise in margin requirements.

The President is considering big changes in top command of this country's armed services, among both civilian and military officials. Changes may start before Charles E. Wilson, Secretary of Defense, steps out after shepherding the new military budget through Congress.

Adm. Arthur Radford, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is not yet assured of a second tour of duty in that position. Gen. Nathan Twining, Staff Chief of the Air Force, is expected to move up to Chairman of the Joint Chiefs if Admiral Radford does retire.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Army Staff Chief, definitely is not to serve a second two-year tour. Gen. Alfred Gruenther, Supreme Commander of North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces in Europe, is to succeed General Ridgway as head of the U. S. Army. General Gruenther and President Eisenhower are close personal friends.

Adm. Robert Carney, Navy Staff Chief, like Admiral Radford, is not yet assured of a second tour in that top Navy job. Admiral Carney may be retired on reaching the age of 60.

Gen. Lauris Norstad, air commander of NATO forces, will be successor to General Gruenther in the top command in Europe if the U. S. has its way. U. S. Air Force officers then would hold the highest military commands in this country and in Europe.

New concepts of U. S. defense—revolving around the use of air power—are influencing Mr. Eisenhower in his approach to military command problems. It is known that Army General Ridgway is not impressed by the argument that airplanes de-emphasize the need for large ground forces.

Robert Stevens, civilian Secretary of the Army, and John Adams, Army Counselor, both are to retire before long as an aftermath of the argument about promoting Dr. Irving Peress.

Fred Seaton, former Nebraska Senator and now Assistant Secretary of Defense, is strongly supported for the job of Secretary of the Army when Secretary Stevens steps out. Sam Reynolds, who also was a Nebraska Senator for a short time, has backing of the American Legion for the post and may get the inside track.

John Foster Dulles, Secretary of State, appears to have lost out to George Humphrey, Secretary of the Treasury, in the argument over a big new aid program for nations of Asia. President Eisenhower shows no present intention to push Congress to approve a program of the type proposed by Mr. Dulles and Harold Stassen, foreign-aid administrator.

The so-called Colombo Powers, in what seems to have been a slip, have invited the white Prime Minister of the Central African Federation to attend the Afro-Asian Conference in Indonesia scheduled for April. This conference presumably was to be one of colored peoples.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. representative to the United Nations, is being spoken of again for a job in Washington or for an ambassadorship. Meanwhile, Harold Stassen, present head of the Foreign Operations Administration, is being discussed as a replacement for Mr. Lodge.

Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep.), of Wisconsin, is under some fire from the Wisconsin Bar Association for insisting upon appointment of a man to a federal judgeship who lacks support of practicing lawyers of the State. Senator Joseph McCarthy favors choice of a judge from among seven lawyers approved by the bar.

Nelson Rockefeller, new White House aide, is credited with selling the President on the idea of creating an advisory commission to encourage interest and endeavor in the arts. Rockefeller philanthropies often have been interested in promoting cultural development.

Republican leaders in the House are working hard to muster a majority of Republican members for the President's tariff-reducing program. The party leaders want to quash the Democratic charge that the White House can count on more support from the opposition than from its own party when it comes to really vital issues.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS
OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Committee Assignments

Committee assignments in Congress usually take up the first week or ten days. The reason is that the two political parties, the Republicans and the Democrats, assign their own members to the several committees. There are always a number of new members for whom room must be made on the committees.

Seniority has quite a bit to do with a choice of committee, but is not always the determining factor in the final assignment. There are rules and regulations governing the membership on committees so that all of the members from one state will not end up on one committee while all of the members from another state end up on another.

The end sought is to see that the people as a whole in this country are adequately represented on all of the committees. There has always been talk about one committee being more important or less important than another.

Frankly, I do not subscribe to this school of thought because I have found that the matters handled by each of the committees are of about equal importance to the people in this country. These matters require a complete and searching analysis by the committee members. Therefore, the opportunity to render splendid service is available to the member regardless of the committee to which he is assigned. A member is usually governed in his request for committee by the relationship of the committee work to his particular district, and of course the question of whether or not there is a place available on the committee.

I was very fortunate in my assignments to the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce and also the Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs. I will be Chairman of the Subcommittee on Mines and Mining and will hold membership on several other subcommittees that have a direct bearing on the agriculture and other segments of the economy of the 18th District.

The subcommittee of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee have not yet been designated, but the committee as such will have jurisdiction of legislation daily affecting the lives of every individual in the Panhandle, regardless of the particular work in which he or she may be engaged. This assignment to this committee was welcomed by me because it will afford me an opportunity of continuing and expanding the fight against federal control of our lives and for the slowing down of the trend toward centralization of government.

Federal Control

An inventory of the events of recent months will disclose that this country is drawing nearer and nearer to a centralized government and a federal control. In fact, it is my frank opinion that we are today nearer a centralized government than we have ever been in the history of this nation; that there has been no slowing down of the trend toward centralization, but, on the contrary, there has been a speeding up thereof. The laws and rules by which we are governed are supposed to find their source in the Congress and in courts.

As I pointed out in a previous newsletter, much of this has been changed because of certain powers vested in bureaus and boards in the executive branch of the government. The directives of these boards and bureaus have always been toward centralization, but the alarming thing is that the proposals for additional legislation are pointed toward centralization, and the decisions of our high courts are opening the door for such proposals to become law and to become constitutional.

If this trend continues, it will only be a short time before the states will be wholly void of any rights except to try law violators and send them to the state penitentiary. The reason that the states will be left with this right is because the federal government does not want to assume that board bill.

It would be very easy for us to get rid of this problem if we followed the philosophy of a telephone man who was working in my office recently. He was holding a big wire that was made up of a great many smaller wires. All of the small wires were a different color. I casually remarked to the man, "What would you do if all of those small wires were the same color?" He replied, "I would quit and go home." That philosophy would get rid of the problem, but it certainly wouldn't solve it. None of us can quit in the battle for the preservation of the dignity and the rights of the individual.

Bible Verse to Study

"He that findeth his life shall lose it; and he that loseth his life for my sake shall find it."

1. By whom was the above statement made?
2. What does it mean?
3. Where may it be found?

BIBLE VERSE ANSWERS:

1. By Jesus, to his disciples.
2. That he who loses his life in service to his fellowmen will have life eternal with God.
3. Matthew 10:39.

In an election behind the Iron Curtain, voters were given a sealed envelope which they were supposed to drop into the ballot box. One voter had the audacity to begin tearing open his envelope. Instantly, an election judge challenged him: "You can't do that!" "Well," replied the would-be voter, "I should like to know for whom I'm voting." "You fool," cried the judge, "don't you know that the ballot is secret?"

HIS PLAN

How often shall I forgive? Peter thought he was generous when he forgave three times, since that is what the Jewish clergy required. But when Jesus said "seventy times seven," it exploded like a bomb-shell. Peter thought God should be proud of him. Seven is 233% of three. But Peter didn't know God; nor do we. Most men cannot believe how far the love of God will go. Seventy times seven means there is no end to God's forgiveness. As often as we sincerely confess, God will fully forgive. Little narrow souls can't realize how generously God forgives. "Forgive us our debts as we forgive our debtors," is a dangerous prayer unless we forgive as Jesus did. He who forgives is victor. Seventy Times Seven, means the best way to "get even" is to forget.

Just Between You, Me . . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

Now that the question of the E-way is settled, at least temporarily, the question is, what do we talk about? That's a pretty good question but with January being sort of wintry and springish both, maybe it can take up the slack as a subject for conversation.

Now that the work of taking the school census is about over W. E. (Windy) Miller can stop long enough to joke a minute or two. He stopped by the house long enough last week to give me some good personal advice on yard work, especially leveling down fill dirt. He said he knew how I could get the dirt leveled quicker. Very quickly I asked how to which he answered, "work faster." Good advice, but oh what an ache it puts in the back.

You wouldn't recognize the front office of Bill Sternberg's lumber yard. That remodeling job he has done sure has made a world of difference and besides he now has enough room to practically get lost in the front of the building.

Dennis Wilkins was looking for a large building last week. He wants a place to work on cabinets and such things for the inside of a house when the weather is bad. With such a building Dennis can work on such items as cabinet drawers before getting the walls of the house up if it becomes necessary to do so. Such a shop should have a nice future here in town.

Pat Britain is happy these days. He has a good team of Golden Gloves fighters. The fights are going on at Plainview this week. They started last night and will continue through Friday night. Pat is hoping for some nice trophies and we hope to get off to Plainview with him Friday night at least to see how the final fights come out.

This is probably the worst time of year for the bookkeepers. Have noticed that R. B. Allen is spending a little more time at the office these days. Maybe by now he has sort of caught up, at least with his accounting. The income tax part of his business will probably extend right up until April 15. The point is that R. B. should find his office a little more pleasant for all this work as he got new drapery last week.

One thing we want to be sure and do is get a report from Kenny and Peggy Goodman when they return from Austin. They were down there last week for a few days and should be home about the time this goes to press. They should have a nice report on all the people they visited while they were there. This should be of great interest as there are quite a number of local people in Austin attending Texas U.

One of the nicest things a person can do is something for the youth of our community. Right now there is a youth organization struggling to get a start in Canyon. It's the Girl Scouts and they need several people helping them with their program. They meet at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in their building at 1605 3rd Avenue. People interested in seeing that these girls have a nice organization with every opportunity to grow, should be present.

This is the time of year for adding to the general confusion and subtracting from the bank account. There are such items as income taxes, your auto license plates and several other things to take additional money from the family till. We can't help part you with your money but we can toss in some corn that will add to your confusion.

A person's success depends greatly in knowing what is his business and what is none of his business.

Bursitis Considered Comparatively New Disease in World

AUSTIN: "A hundred years ago nobody worried about bursitis because nobody had it," said Dr. Henry A. Holle, state health officer. It wasn't until about 40 years ago that there was enough of it around for it to be given a name. Today an estimated two and a half million Americans suffer from the hurting joints caused by bursitis.

The reason for the big increase seems to be found in modern living. So many of the things people do—typing, working adding machines, handling compressed-air tools, exercising strenuously on week-ends—are the very things that can cause attacks of bursitis. Too, people live longer nowadays and bursitis most often attacks after 40 when age weakens tendons. Between the moving parts of muscles, tendons and bones there are cushions—tiny, flat sacs filled with an oily substance. These are the bursae. As the parts move, the two inside surfaces of the sacs glide against each other providing satin-smooth action.

The body has more than 140 of these little sacs. Most important is the subdeltoid bursae in the shoulder, which helps the major shoulder muscle operate. It is the most important because the human shoulder wasn't designed for the work it now has to do. The result is that though bursitis can occur in any of the 140 bursae and often does affect elbows, hips, ankles and joints, 80 per cent of the time it is in the shoulder.

If an attack of bursitis occurs, a physician should be consulted. He can control bursitis but he can't control the results of neglect. Curing bursitis takes time and patience.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By G. WILSON HARDER

Current drive to raise postal rates illustrates fallacy of government engaging in business.

While obviously postal service cannot be turned over to private enterprise, a review of many pages of testimony before Congress on subject of reducing postal losses to talling almost $400 million per year, clearly shows difference in thinking between private enterprise and government enterprise.

Presenting C. W. Harder well documented audited testimony, Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield has shown how first class mail makes annual profit of $105 million. But this profit and much more is absorbed in losses incurred on second, third and fourth class mail.

Yet, without raising already profitable first class rates, a major part of deficit could be wiped out by simple means.

An example is third class mail accounting for over $190 million annual loss. It was never intended government should get into business of distributing advertising. Yet any big national combine seeking to drive out regional manufacturers or packers can flood any area with coupons addressed to "Householder" and government is obligated to deliver them at cheap rates. A simple law adjustment requiring all mail to carry the specific name of an addressee would go a long way toward damming this leak.

© National Federation of Independent Business

In order to encourage dissemination of news Congress provided for low cost second class mail. But interpretations of this Congressional intent have so expanded, any publication, even if devoted to fiction, "true" confession, Hollywood gossip, or similar content can go second class mail. The result is more than 500 magazines flood second class mail which shows a deficit of almost $250 million per year.

Congressional testimony shows only four magazines account for $20 million yearly loss, thus total for all the more than 500 magazines reaches staggering total.

But simple solution to this problem was worked out years ago by most cities, counties and states in regulating where legal advertising should be placed. Legal advertising can only be placed in newspapers of general circulation in the area. Thus legal advertising by government subdivisions must be placed in newspapers which are published to serve all the public, and not just special groups such as "true" confession fans.

Thus, by using same yardstick used by local government to determine eligibility of publications to carry legal advertising, post office could, if permitted by law, restrict use of second class mail to bona fide newspapers of general circulation, and thus wipe out major portion, or all, of present operating deficit.

However, these are the simple, business like solutions that businessmen would apply to problems of similar nature. There is no doubt that the very practical minded and efficient career postal authorities could wipe out their losses in a fair manner without increase in rates, if permitted to do so by law. But the business like way, and the government way, is often far apart.

Scout Dinner To Be Held Thursday Night in Amarillo

The annual meeting of the Llano Estacado Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held Thursday, January 20, at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo. The business meeting will start at 4:30 p. m. in the junior ballroom.

Reports will be given by District Chairmen: R. C. Buckles of Stratford for the Dallam-Hartley-Sherman District; W. H. Fowler of Dumas for the Moore County District; Dr. C. R. Nester of Canyon for the Randall County District; Neil Cooper of Hereford for the Deaf Smith District; and W. B. Lawrence of Amarillo for the Amarillo District.

Operating committee chairmen will make their reports covering activities for the year. Election of officers, executive board members, and members-at-large will be held and the report for the nominating committee will be made by Lon D. Edwards.

The business meeting will recess at 6:00 p. m. After which the annual Scouter-Cubber-Ladies night dinner will be held at 7:00 p. m. in the Crystal ballroom.

President S. C. Stockton will preside as toastmaster. Special music will be provided by the Sandiares of Amarillo high school. Several Silver Beaver Awards will be given for distinguished service to boyhood in the council and veteran awards will be given.

A keen contest between the various districts of the council is being waged to have the largest number present. The attendance banner was won by the Moore County district last year.

Guest speaker will be William J. Murray, Jr., chairman of the Railroad Commission of Texas, who is an active Scouter of the Capitol area council in Austin. Art Bralley is chairman of the program committee.

Towns to be represented at the meeting include Stratford, Texline, Dalhart, Channing, Hartley, Skelly Community, Sunray, Cactus, Dumas, Masterson, Exell, Canyon, Happy, Claude, Vega, Adrian, Bushland, Hereford, Friona and Amarillo.

Tickets for the dinner may be purchased from the chairmen of the unit committees or district chairmen or at the Boy Scout office, 21 Johnson Building, Amarillo.

MRS. LILLIE FOSTER IS HOSTESS TO WESLEY BIBLE CLASS

On Wednesday Mrs. Lillie Foster was hostess to 22 members and visitors of the Methodist Woman's Wesley Bible class. Mesdames Jones, Oldham, Graves, Pierce, Misses Bessie Young, Minerva Sheffield and Elizabeth Cox, and Rev. L. L. Hill were special guests.

A pleasure to the class was the return of Miss Ida Sheppard, annual guest of Mrs. L. J. Moore.

To amuse his mother who is quite ill, Rev. Hill asked for the ages of the individual members and guests. Five are more than 83 years old; four more than 80. The total age of those recorded is 1319 years with several of those in attendance having been friends for 50 years or more.

Those members present were Mesdames J. A. Wiseman, C. E.

PALO DURO-RUSK H. D. CLUB WORKS FOR MARCH OF DIMES

The Palo Duro-Rusk Home Demonstration Club held their regular meeting January 11 in the home of Mrs. Charles Reitz with Mrs. Anna Honneycutt as hostess.

The meeting was opened with group singing. Roll call was answered by 13 members. A new member, Mrs. Pete Cowart, was welcomed to the club. Minutes were read and approved. Mrs. Charles Conatser gave the council report.

Following the business meeting and a discussion of plans for the club to raise money to contribute to the March of Dimes, the meeting was adjourned.

Refreshments were served to two guests, Mesdames Cowart and C. F. Marshall, and members.

Next meeting will be January 25 in the home of Mrs. Douglas Marshall.

UMBARGER 4-H CLUB REPORTS

Umbarger 4-H Club met on Dec. 20 with Mrs. Max Hoffman, adult leader sponsoring in the absence of a county agent.

After Evelyn Hoffman, president, had conducted the business meeting, Mrs. Hoffman gave a demonstration on framing pictures with plaster of paris then coloring and decorating the frames. Numbers were drawn for the pictures framed in the demonstration, and Janice Gerber, Beatrice Wieck, and Evelyn Hoffman were the lucky winners.

After the meeting a Christmas party was held. A few games were played. Then Mrs. Hoffman served refreshments.

TOWN AND COUNTRY CLUB MEETS IN H. BURRUS HOME

Mrs. Harley Burrus was hostess to the Town and Country Club on January 6.

After a series of games of "42," delicious refreshments were served to Mesdames Doris Foster, Lillie Byars, Helen Reynolds, Grace Costley, Joe Cook, Gladys Lair, Esther Olson, a new member, Mollie Brown, and a visitor, Freddie Lair.
